Symposium Growth

Praise

“The best symposium of the four!”

“What an extraordinary conference. Everything—content, speakers, variety, food, self-care, sanitizer at tables, raffles, fun, drinks and appetizers afterwards — showed such love and care for us all. You guys deserve a standing ovation. BRAVO!”

“This was one of the very best conferences I have EVER attended. The love and details that went into this event were obvious and noted. I am extremely grateful and will use the resources and information to get better at serving the community.”

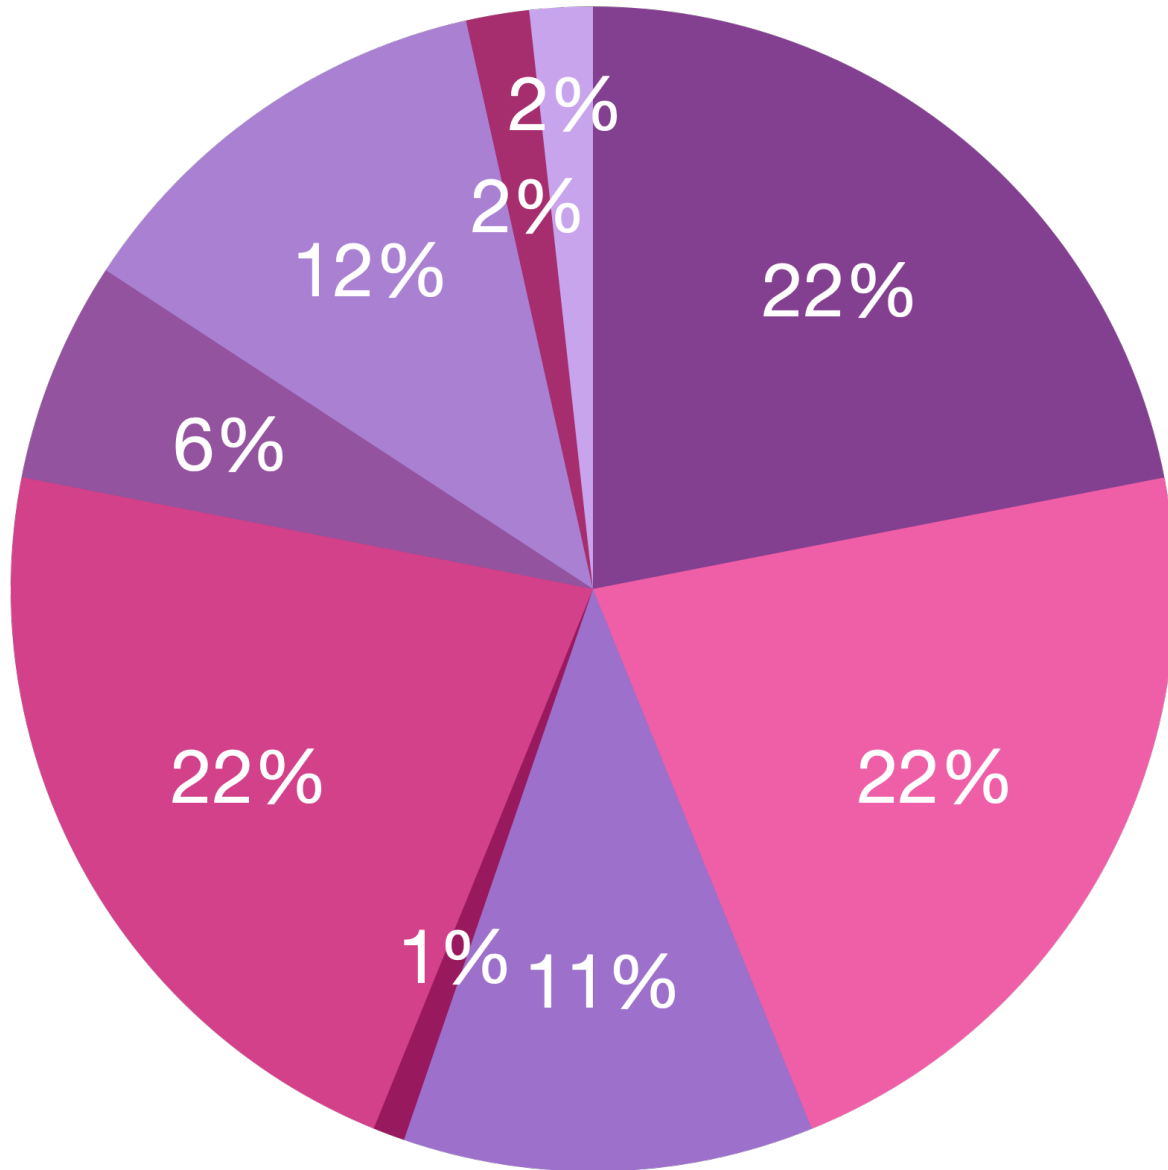

“All your trainings are amazingly good, educational and learning new tools and techniques to help us to work and help with our clients.”

“Loved that the speakers actually work in this field and directly with survivors, so it wasn't just research being presented.”

“How do you plan to incorporate the new information into your work?”

- Utilize trauma informed language in community engagement, outreach and with clients
 - Share learnings with fellow commissioners to support County-wide change
 - Consult with leadership around our gender-affirming care efforts
 - Make service/program improvements to be more inclusive
 - Educate patients on resources including mandated reports to DCFS
 - Ensure data collection tools and forms reflect multiple identities
 - Integrate education on healthy relationships with youth clients
 - Start initiating partnership development
 - Integrate self care activities with clients and staff
 - Integrate universal education to ask all caregivers about IPV to better support children
 - Engage in more training
 - Be more nonjudgmental in my conversations

Strengths of the Conference

- Everything!
 - The love that went into every detail; well-organized
 - Quality, highly knowledgeable speakers
 - The slides
 - Survivor panel and centering lived experiences
 - Diversity and empowerment
 - Wide array of topics
 - Addressing the intersection of IPV and gender; male speakers
 - Time allotted for each session, overall agenda
 - Building in time for networking
 - Compassion, understanding and focus on safety in a variety of ways
 - The focus on youth and IPV

Areas for Improvement

- Speaker support with mics for better audio
- Limited time for breakout sessions
- Not enough survivor stories
- More signs around the venue
- Having to choose only one breakout session
- Limited time for each session
- Too short
